CAMBRIDGE HIGH AND LATIN SCHOOL

Prologue

This book will be one of our treasured possessions, because it is unique. Here in concrete form are all the experiences, so vivid to us now, which nevertheless will fade quickly as we leave a period in our lives which we can never recapture. A new environment, new friends, and new problems will claim us soon, and these happy days will escape our memories. Let us therefore prize this book, devoted to us and to our high school days. It is the key which will always reopen the past to us.

Dedication

MR. THOMAS L. BRAMHALL

Assistant Headmaster

Thomas Long Bramhall.

When in later life we recall our senior year at Cambridge High and Latin School, the person who will stand out above all others in our minds will be Mr. Bramhall. We shall remember him then for the same fine qualities for which we love and respect him now: his wisdom, his friendliness, his humor. However, we shall recall most vividly and most affectionately his understanding of our problems and of ourselves. As an ever increasing number of years separates us from our high school days, he will attain to an even higher stature; for the greater the number of personalities we meet in the world, the greater will be our realization that no one can surpass Mr. Bramhall in kindness and sympathy. To him we dedicate our Year-book, prepared with his kindness, and written and compiled in a way that we hope will measure up to the excellence of his direction.

MARTHA MURPHY

MR. JOHN J. SHEEHAN

Headmaster

John J. Sheehan

The class of 1953 is proud to be the first class to graduate during the term of Mr. Sheehan, our new headmaster. To him we owe a double debt of gratitude, for his guidance during our freshman and sophomore years, and for his fine leadership in our important senior year. We leave high school enriched by his advice and counsel.

MARTHA MURPHY

At last, here they are! The long awaited results of the REVIEW Popularity Poll can now be revealed, and all the lucky winners congratulated for a great honor that is in every case well deserved. Perhaps the most wonderful as well as the most striking feature of this year's poll is the fact that every title was won by a different person. Furthermore, with very few exceptions each honor was won by a very small plurality, a situation which had the counters biting their fingernails during most of the long process of counting up the votes. Pat Walsh and Gigi Boudreau won the crowns of the most popular, and the prize couldn't have gone to two nicer people. In the line of appearances '53 chose Gerry LaVoie as its prettiest girl and Larry Egan as its handsomest boy, and, as we all know, their claims to their titles are obvious; Carol Williams and Donald Smith became the school fashion plates. The class decided that Gael Mahoney's and Fred Martone's jokes were the funniest and that Kenny Hadley had the best nature of them all. Among all the fine athletes in the class, '53 picked Eddie Battle and Jacky Noble as absolutely tops, and judging by the scores these two have chalked up, their titles are certainly well deserved. Berny Boyle and Gary Fonseca were judged the best dancers. The title of best scholar went to brilliant valedictorian Dorothy Zukas, and REVIEW and YEAR BOOK editor Martha Murphy was considered most likely to succeed.

Turning to extra-curricular activities, disc-jockey Bob Clayton held sway in the field of radio because the girls' favorite program was Boston Ballroom and the boys chose Juke Box Saturday Night. That man is surely popular! In television Latin agreed with the rest of the country since both boys and girls elected I LOVE LUCY by a large margin. When it came to movie stars the sexes voted differently, however; the girls chose Jeff Chandler as their favorite actor whereas the boys preferred virile John Wayne. Barbara Stanwyck captured the honors for best actress among the girls, but the boys fell for the charms of Marilyn Monroe. As to reading matter, the distaff side reads SEVENTEEN and the boys, LIFE. '53 likes best to dance to the sweet strains of Guy Lombardo's orchestra (one of the counters dreamed that he came to play at the senior prom!). The boys like to play baseball and it looks as if the girls like to watch them because both voted baseball their favorite sport. In the amusement line, both boys and girls like best to dance, and both consider the timeless BLONDIE still the best comic strip.

There they are! The preferences of the class of '53 are set down for your perusal. Don't you think we chose wisely?

Martha Murphy '53

Class Poem

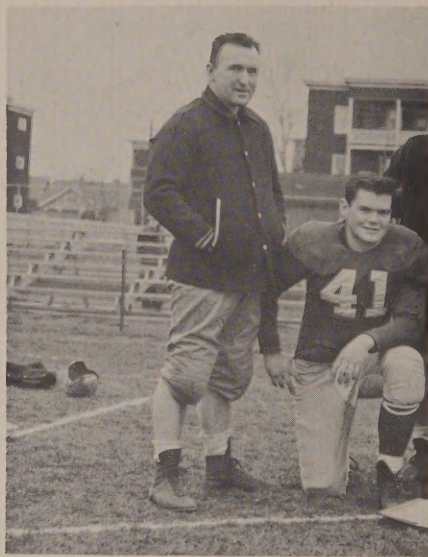

To thee, our Alma Mater true
We bid farewell; we now depart
To tread along the paths of life
With faith and hope and eager heart.

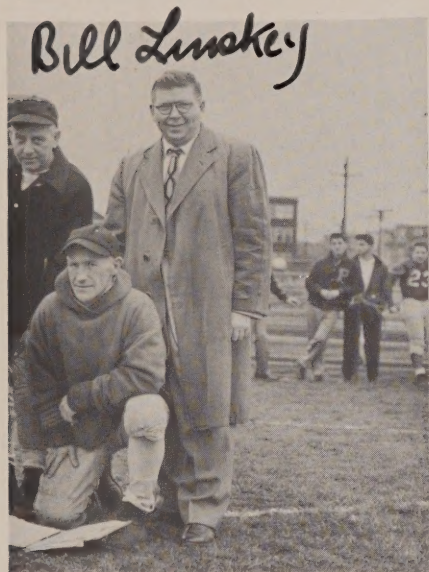

From you we gained our valor strong,
Our wisdom keen, our knowledge deep;
As we begin our journey long,
We see the fields that we must reap.

Upon the threshold of new life,
We stand with anxious heart and fears;
Beneath our feet, foundation firm;
Ahead the threat of misty years.

Show us thy light and truth, O God!
Give us thy guiding hand to lead
Us on our way; In times of strife
Increase our faith—confirm our creed.

Class Will

We, the class of 1953 of the Cambridge High and Latin School, being of sounder memories than minds, and of bodies destroyed in gym classes, do hereby proclaim, attest, declare, and make known this our Last Will and Testament, hereby revoking all previous wills heretofore made by us.

Article I To Mr. Bramhall: a lie detector for various obvious reasons.

Article II To Mr. Bridey: a pair of squeaky shoes and a radar system to cover all known hiding places.

Article III To Miss Crowley: a shorthand class that knows "brief forms" are not "short girls".

Article IV To Mr. Frisoli: a trip to the Italian Riviera where he can use his accent to good advantage.

Article V To Mr. Higgins: a pencil sharpener.

Article VI To Mr. Kozlowsky: the installation of magnetically constructed baskets for our loaded basketballs.

Article VII To Miss McCaffrey: a Braille copy of Hamlet for her sleeping students in Room 311.

Article VIII To Mr. McKenna: a first-class lever.

Article IX To Mr. Phelan: a pair of shoulder pads to stop the lunchroom rush.

Article X To Miss Wait: twelve more books in the Cinderella Hassenfeffer series.

Article XI To Mr. Santoro: Miss America of 1952 and a paint brush—he will do the rest.

Article XII To Mr. Sateriale: a parallelogram and a class in commercial arithmetic.

Article XIII To Mr. Sheehan: Governor Herter to read his own proclamations.

Article XIV To Miss Sullivan: a dumb waiter to carry her lunch tray to the lunchroom.

Article XV To Miss Ward: a student who can dissect a worm and sew it up again in time for the next period.

Article XVI To the lunchroom staff: a new cook-book.

Article XVII To the Freshman and Sophomore boys: a subway from C. H. L. S. to Rindge for gym classes.

Article XVIII To the Junior girls: the senior girls leave their love of Eddie Fisher.

Article XIX To the incoming suckers (we mean seniors): the long climb to the third floor.

Article XX To Jimmy Demos: "Gigi" Boudreau leaves his popularity and good sportsmanship.

Article XXI To Nancy Doherty: Gael Mahoney leaves her dramatic talent.

Article XXII To Donald McKinnon: Dick Sanderson leaves his genius at chess.

Article XXIII To John Melim: George Oleson leaves some of his height so that John may reach the top shelf of his locker.

Article XXIV To John Serino: Dick Douglass leaves his ability to tell a joke for the third time and still get a laugh.

Article XXV To Nancy Sullivan: Grace Rotigliano leaves her school spirit and personality, which became obvious at the basketball games.

Article XXVI To Billy Troy: Jack Noble leaves his quarterbacking talents.

Article XXVII To anyone who wishes to succeed: Dorothy Zukas leaves her brains and Martha Murphy her administrative abilities.

Article XXVIII To other tired students: Larry Egan leaves a bottle of sleeping tablets, a pillow, and a sign entitled, "Do not disturb until the end of class."

Article XXIX To any girl who wishes to be popular: Pat Walsh leaves her looks and personality.

Article XXX To anyone who wants it: Jack Monteith leaves his reserved parking space beside the fire hydrant—isn't it odd that no one else has taken it?

Article XXXI Finally, and in conclusion, we leave and hope the Juniors leave also.

This Last Will and Testament of the Class of 1953 was recorded on June first in the Year of our Lord One Thousand Nine Hundred and Fifty-three, and was witnessed by:

Richard McCabe
Gail Hebbard
Roger Olson

This Last Will and Testament was sworn at by a notorious public, on this first day of June, in the year of our Lord One Thousand Nine Hundred and Fifty-three.

Class History

Hello there! How nice to see you! I was just looking for someone to tell my story to. Who am I? Why, I'm the spirit of the class of '53, and because the class itself has been so jovial, I'm one of the merriest ghosts in history. Speaking of history, I have been elected (by unanimous consent, I'll have you know) to have the honor of telling you the history of this amazing class as I saw it. For I went through the corridors, sat at the dances, and enjoyed every moment of the past four years right at the side of the members of the class.

I must say that this class has kept me so busy that I'm getting tired. I think I better sit down on top of this locker and start my tale before I fall fast asleep.

FRESHMAN YEAR

It all began one day when I was quietly standing in a corner of the corridor next to those swinging doors on the first floor way back—let me see—why it was September '49,—when all of a sudden, boys and girls came from everywhere and entered the doors of the school.

After having the school to myself during the quiet torrid days of summer, this onslaught of hundreds of people gave me a slight ache in the folds of the sheet on my head, but I soon recovered.

As they passed me, I felt their excitement and their amazement on entering the school. They seemed to be so nice that I knew we would have a wonderful stay at C.H.L.S.

Sure enough, as the months wore on this was proved. For one thing, I enjoyed flying into the various classrooms and smiling at the amazement of the teachers as the members of the class began to distinguish themselves in the classroom. On the football gridiron, the baseball diamond, and the basketball court, too, the class of '53 gave hints of its promising future.

At one baseball game, I couldn't see the field very well because of the hat of the lady in front of me, so I moved down directly in back of home plate. The next fellow who came up hit a long ball and the runners began to move. I was watching so closely the play at second base that I didn't see the runner coming home. Take a tip from me and get out of the way when a rugged Latinite comes sliding into home plate. I was the laugh of the Ghosts' Union with my black and blue sheet.

But to get back to the story. During the year '49-'50 I saw a new club formed, called the Freshman Book Club. It was excellently advised by Miss Butler, Miss Getchell, and Miss Young. I sat in the corner of Room 130 and listened while the members reported on the books they had read. They all had an enjoyable as well as profitable time as members of the Freshman Book Club.

Oh, I almost forgot to tell you one of the most amazing incidents that happened during that year. There I was quietly eating my breakfast of Ghost Toasties, when I was startled by the approach of some of the girls wearing large red bows in their hair and carrying shopping bags containing their books. As I am a curious being, I followed one group of girls and from their conversation I learned that the red bows and shopping bags were part of the initiation of the G.A.A. I must say they certainly looked peculiar. At the end of the day, the girls and I retreated to the gym and had a party while we laughed over the day's events.

Mainly, I think, the class spent this first year in scholastic pursuits and in getting lost in the school's mammoth curving corridors.

Now as one year had been completed the members of the class went their separate ways to enjoy their long-awaited summer vacation, and I settled down for a short summer's nap.

My slumber was rudely disturbed at the climax of the summer months by a group of frolicking sophomores eager to commence their second year as Latinites. Reclining on top of my favorite vantage point, a locker, I observed my more matured "inmates" as they mischievously misdirected the gullible freshmen through the maze of corridors, and as they taunted those bedecked in initiation costumes.

I witnessed as usual the variety of entertainments offered by the G.A.A. which sponsored during the year of "52" a costume party at which I found myself to be quite at home. The informal was held at the Riverside Boat Club, and for the first time in the history of the G.A.A., it was held before Christmas. The annual prom was held at the Cambridge Boat Club, my most frequented haunting ground. At the prom I rustled my black formal sheet to the music of Kent Bartlett who calmed my beastlike instincts with "if" and "The Tennessee Waltz". In March of the same year I attended a gala informal sponsored by the K.B. and Dramatic Club. As I glided from one group to another endeavoring to discover the drift of the general conversation, I found that everyone spoke enthusiastically of the outstanding teamwork which enabled Latin's hockey team to win the G.B.I. championship.

Although grieved for an interval when because of an increasingly great supply of texts I was obliged to leave my most comfortable closet, I am able to reflect upon many carefree afternoons spent at football, basketball, and hockey matches which I watched free of charge; and it was with a great deal of chagrin that I bid adieu to my happy friends as they again left me to haunt the lonely halls until their return in September.

JUNIOR YEAR

Pleasant memories come back to me as I float through the second floor where my class of juniors used to scurry back and forth between classes. Among those rushing about were the girls on the Honor Roll with their cute Maroon pocketbooks with CHLS monogrammed on them. These were the gift of Miss Whalen, the Junior Dean. These same girls were also asked to join the K.B.

While roaming through the corridors one day, I was nearly scared out of my sheet by a startling display of cartoons and slogans all over the walls. When I finally got my sheet on straight, I saw that it was election time of the juniors. The monstrosities on the walls were only posters telling the qualities and intentions of the candidates running for office. When the counting of ballots was over, I gave a cheer for Gigi Boudreau, President; John (Snookie) Noble, Vice President; Pat Walsh, Secretary-Treasurer. Congratulations also went to Gerry Lavoie, Beverly Pelrine, Claire Farrell, Ruth Thorne, and Angela Traganos of the Prom Committee.

I was all aflutter and brushed up on my French when I heard that C. H. L. S. was going to have a real honest-to-goodness French teacher from France for a year in exchange for Miss Hunter. Of course, I, like many of the juniors, was sorry to see Miss Hunter leave, but I was thrilled by the arrival of Mademoiselle Acarde. I know that the pupils who had her for French enjoyed her very much.

It was a sad day when we were beaten by Rindge in football by 26 to 0. But with Ken Hadley as captain, we're sure of better luck next year.

Another name for the G. A. A. Formal could easily have been Snowbound. It seems that almost everyone got caught in a snow bank and had to shovel out of it. Lucky for me that I wore my galoshes. Despite the snow, everybody had a good time dancing to the music of Freddie Sateriale's orchestra.

Our glorious junior year was saddened by the death of Mr. Downey, our headmaster, on January 15, 1952. Mr. Bramhall then became the acting headmaster.

Early in April, I was surprised to see many juniors walking around the school with their hands in front of them. At first I thought they were trying to push something out of their way; but then I got close enough to some of them, (after almost getting someone's hand in my face) I saw that they were admiring their shiny new class rings. The Ring Committee did a good job of choosing the style of the ring; everyone seemed satisfied.

One day just when I was about to take a nap at the back of one of the classrooms, I was so startled by a loud voice asking for attention that I almost fell off the desk. It was then that I learned that C. H. L. S. had installed a loud speaker system. I thought that the system was a good idea, but by the looks on some of the teachers' faces when this speaker interrupted in the middle of an important class, I am doubtful of their opinions.

If you could call the G.A.A. Formal Snowbound, it is only right that the Junior Prom be called The Deluge. With all that rain, bathing suits would have seemed more practical than gowns and tuxedos. It will take more than rain to keep the Junior Prom from being a tremendous success.

When the Class of 1952 had left the halls of CHLS, I could see the chins of the Juniors rise as they looked upon their lower classmen and said, "Now, we are 'The Class'."

SENIOR YEAR

Last but by no means least came the mighty mites, the seniors. I enjoyed this year immensely, but I realized that my fun with all my classmates was nearing a close. I went everywhere with my friends that year—to the G.A.A. formal, to the Thanksgiving Day football game, to the yearbook dance, and to the Traditional Senior Prom. Of course, there were millions of events but I cannot take time nor space to mention them all right here because I want to move on and tell you a little about each event, during this final year in high school.

First of all, I am proud to say that I watched the students welcome Miss Hunter on her return from France, and we all anticipated a promising year for the French course. In addition to this, I thanked Miss MacDonald and Miss Schuler for their good work as they retired from management of the K.B. while at the same time, I was glad that Miss Crowley and Miss McCabe undertook the new supervision.

Flitting onward, I attended the traditional Thanksgiving Day football game against our favorite rivals, Rindge. Believe it or not—we won! Yes, get out the old fur coat and the moth-eaten maroon pennant because for the first time in five years we surpassed the opposing eleven! This event enabled the seniors to graduate with heads held high and they certainly had a substantial reason for doing so!

Soon after this game, I learned from my classmates that the class elections were about to take place. I became so excited that I contracted the Chicken Pox—favorite epidemic of the year—but I recovered in time to congratulate Larry Egan, our president, Roger Olson, Vice President, Ruth Thorne, Secretary, Barbara MacDonald, Treasurer, and the Prom Committee, J. Walker, M. Allen, C. Morrison, N. Joyce, S. Falter. What a wonderful group of students. It is no wonder that we all had such an enjoyable and successful year under the leadership of these fine people.

Soon I heard the girls discussing the advent of the annual G.A.A. formal. I learned that it was going to be held at the Commander Hotel and Bob Norris and his band would supply the most entertaining music this side of Heaven. At this time the girls were swooning over such tunes as: "You Belong To Me", "I Went To Your Wedding," "Blue Tango," and scores of others. At the Prom, I saw Dick McCabe and Joanna Velonides crowned king and queen while other couples gazed dreamily at nothing.

Following the big event, I attended a class assembly at which I heard announced that Pat Walsh had been awarded the Good Citizenship title. How happy I was!

Another award was given then, as I still looked on, and this time it was the honor of representing the class at the State House on Good Government Day. Our lucky boy was Larry Egan, Class President.

No sooner had this excitement passed than I joyously welcomed Mr. Sheehan, our new headmaster, proudly taking the seat of Mr. Bramhall, whom we shall always remember as a wonderful guide for any student.

So much happened during the following weeks that I could not find the time even to adjust my sheet, so I had to attend the production of Pygmalion donned in my Sunday Best—a lop-sided outfit. This movie was shown by the K.B. in order to raise money for their scholarship fund and it proved to be a great success.

I had no sooner recovered from my late date on that night, than I was summoned to Purdy's. Not knowing what this part of the world might possibly hold for me, I flew away and soon learned that most of my friends were now posing for class pictures. Such pretty smiles!

On my way home, I saw a few girls wearing bright colored knee socks, and upon inquiry, I became informed of the latest fad! I opened my tiny eyes a bit wider and stared; I found it so hard to believe my vision. I laughed for hours on end and thought that I could never control myself but the drollery soon wore off and I began to get a little sensible again.

Later, only too soon after all this gaiety and fun, I sadly watched some of the students diligently "cramming" for the "everloved" college boards. The day of the exam was indeed a big one and the pupils seemed to put so much importance on it. Nothing but study filled the preceding weeks of these conscientious students.

All ended well, however, when a happy and unforgettable year climaxed with the Senior Prom. The dance was filled with laughter and sadness, with certainties and doubts, and most of all, with memories of a wonderful high school career, never to be equaled in the future.

Following in the footsteps of this gala event was the Senior Class Day. We looked forward to this moment with open eyes and eager hearts, because we had complete charge of ourselves on this day. Everything that was done was the work of our own little hands, and any supervision was undertaken by fellow classmates. Indeed we felt proud and powerful at this big time of responsibility. Soon however, the band began to piece together the beautiful notes of "Pomp and Circumstance" and, as I took my place, leading the line, we rehearsed for graduation. Does it seem possible that four, long years of perseverance could pass so quickly? The time for the actual ceremony came only too soon and I hated to part from all my pals after such good times together. However, a feeling of pride overwhelmed me as I listened to Dorothy Zukas deliver her valedictory speech for I truthfully realized that I was a part of this excellent class—a segment of the example that it has set for struggling freshmen.

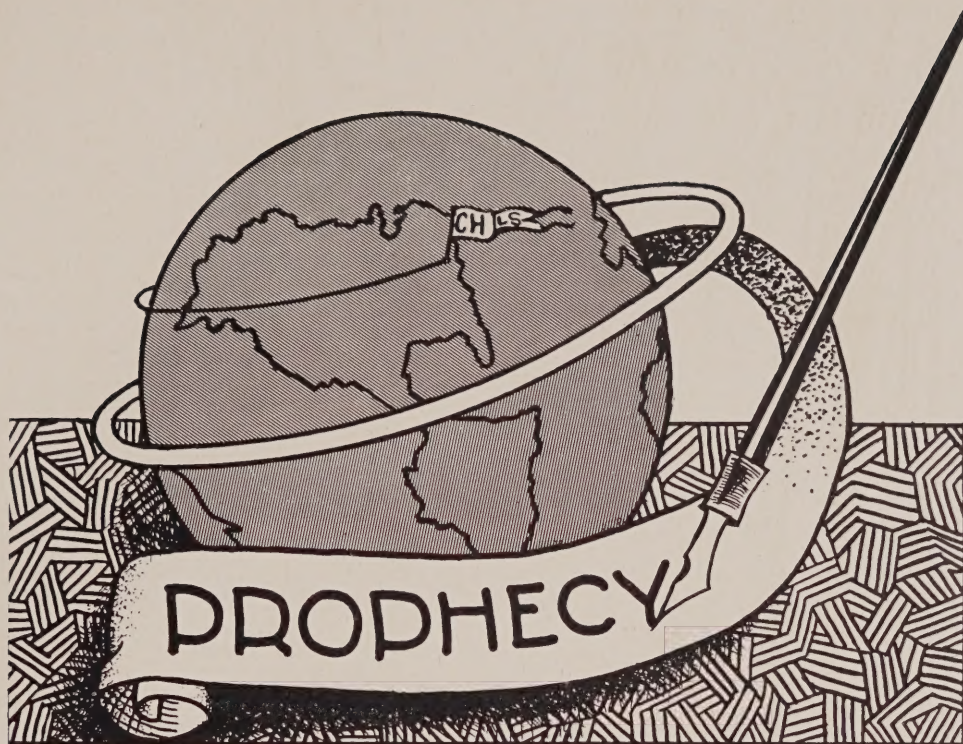

CONCLUSION

So ends the recorded history of this class. Its various future feats and accomplishments only time will tell.

I have certainly enjoyed being the spirit mascot of the class and coming through the years with it. And before we part may I say to the members, 'May fortune smile on you as you go through life's corridors as it did when you went through Latin's corridors.'

Now I am very sleepy—think I will take a little nap. I will not say goodbye, but au revoir for I shall see you at the reunion.

SPECIAL NOTICE !!

The Cambridge Reporter is especially pleased to announce that it has procured exclusive rights for the publication in serial form of the great new book by Nancy Hodgkins, famous dancing teacher. The book entitled, "My Experience in the Ballroom" is written in verse, as Miss Hodgkins is also a great poet. Our paper is greatly indebted to Hilda and Kathleen Gordon, and Lorella Hanlin without whose work the publication rights could never have been procured. Be sure to watch for this amazing, fascinating book appearing in installments in our paper only!

CITY MANAGER CUTS TAXES

Cambridge taxpayers were overjoyed to find out today that amazing city-manager, Richard Sanderson, was able to reduce the city's tax-rate $10.00. Although Harvard economists Frank Tahmoush and Gerald Murphy called the reduction an act of genius, Sanderson modestly gave most of the credit to his able assistants, Richard Wilson, Walter Scanlon, John Tierney, Richard McGivney, George Ritz, Peter O'Brien, Harold O'Connell, Edward McMahon, and his stenographic assistants, Shirley Hanlon, Eileen Hanafin, Mary Kozachuk, Elizabeth Jenness, Evelyn Johnson, Alice Lebert, Jean Kelley, and Barbara Jamgochian. Sanderson says that his next project will be the financing of an over-pass in Harvard Square to clear up mounting traffic problems. The engineer for this gigantic project will be Charles Martin.

SCHOOL COMMITTEE ANNOUNCES APPOINTMENTS

The Cambridge School Committee announced today the appointments of several teachers to the faculty of the Cambridge High and Latin School.

Those appointed were: Carol Klein, Unconventional French, Anne Semerjian, Egyptian Hieroglyphics, Helen Anastos, Greek Mythology, Joanne Bolton, Coach of the Checker Team, Eleanor D'Agostino, Oral English, Joanna Veolonides, Finance, Bernadette Boyle, Ballet Dancing, Barbara Dixon, Indochinese Relations, and Arthur Dewar, Sewing.

BENEFIT HELD AT LOCAL HOTEL

A gala benefit was held last night at the Hotel Lermond the proceeds of which will go to the C. H. L. S. gym.

Among those present were a delegation of secretaries from John Hancock including Frances Eldridge, Florence Mercer, Edie Ladner, Pauline Colton, Marie Zaglakis, Mary Nilson, Jane Rego, Lorraine Mattos, Roseline Blank, Amelia Goodridge, Loretta Doody, Maureen McCann, Ruth Thorne, and Dorothy Grimes.

The principal speaker of the evening was Paul Chivers who spoke about the advantages of a swimming pool.

MISS AMERICA VISITS CITY

Cheering millions welcomed Gail Heberd, a local girl who won fame and fortune as Miss America. Miss Heberd appeared with her court, the runners-up in the contest, Shirley Falter, Irene Malley, Geraldine La Voie, Mary Allen, Pat Peterson, Mary Marshall, and Lorraine Haley.

"GO WEST YOUNG MAN"

Many young men and women, too, are taking Horace Greeley's advice and are going west for their summer vacations.

Those staying at the Golden Stallion Dude Ranch are: Charles Colter, Michael Ancielle, Dighton Ashby, Madison Bland, Robert Belski, Gerry Bradley, Bill Burns, Bob Casey, David Delaney, Peter Farren, Robert Dunn, Reginald Gibson, Bill Griffin, and George Ingalls.

Many tourists enjoy Sun Valley, Idaho. Among those seen on the ski slopes are: George Boudreau, Robert Bushnack, John Daley, Francis Darcy, Patrick Donaghey, Walter Ellis, Edward Lermond, Harvey Medoff, and Walter Lucey.

The pool at Sun Valley is especially nice. This reporter saw the following splashing in the pool: Ruth Bishop, Edie Battle, Millicent Asmous, Gayle Barden, Elaine Bell, Rosemarie Bulcamino, Elaine Brickley, Thelma Calender, Judy Churchill, Ann Calamara, Marion Doyle, and Vasiliki Economou.

BIG POLITICAL CONVENTION

Today in the heart of downtown Boston, the Latin party held its convention to choose a candidate for President of the United States. Among the various party members the following are most likely to be nominated: Larry Egan, Paul Lorris, Richard McCabe, or Roger Olson.

This convention draws people from every state, Griffin, Barbara Karess, Nancy Lamagna, Pat White, Barbara Hoban, Beverly Pelrine, Theresa Martell, Norine Forrest, Kay Caulfield and Joan Mahoney.

all of whom are anxious to see one of their party get into the White House.

Seen at the convention today were the following State House aids: Gail Ambush, Rosemarie Barker, Madeline Barrasso, Claire Benn, Helen Cardarelli, Joyce Crowley, Clare Coughlan, Rosemary Correia, Winifred Douglas, John Estrella, Walter Fiebelkorn, David Fillion, John Hannon, John McCarron, and Larry Kuhn.

Ann Garoian gave an excellent speech eulogizing the work of women in politics. Most of the party members agreed with her.

After Miss Garoian's speech, the following lady ward leaders asked practical questions: Christine Firchow, Catherine Fraser, Judy Gallivan, Judy Giffen, Hope Golding, Janet Dovidio, Claire French, Estelle Greene, Dorothy Griffin, Pat Gurney, Ruth Hall, Sally Higley, Natalie Peter, Marion O'Connor, and Kathleen O'Reilly.

RIVIERA ATTRACTS RECORD BREAKING CROWDS

The Riviera, that international vacation spot, reports a record number of tourists this year. Among the Americans there are John Chaisson, Theodore Anderson, Gregory Courtois, Edward Collins, Mary Culhane, Mary D'Arcangelo, Lois Creedon, Arlene Coyle, and Donna Jordan.

Among the theatrical groups are Gael Mahoney, Phillip Corcoran, Judy Maloney, Mary Jane McCauley, Alice Quinn, Sophie Stankevich, Gudrun Vilbig, Lawrence Crocco.

NEW HOSPITAL OPENS

Dr. Greg Leonardos announces the opening of his new drive-in hospital, staffed by Drs. John Bargoot, Richard Shain, Steven Koplan, and nurses Beverly Bell, Mary Jane McCauley, Joan Doherty, Jackie Hicks, Jean Lusk, Frances MacMillen, Eleanor Andrade, Yvonne Frances LeVie, Jean Goffredo, Catherine Long. These nurses are the only ones in the state who can give a penicillin shot on the run or take your temperature while standing on the running-board.

First patient to be treated was Frank DiMeo, who was there with a case of gangrene of the feet, caused by too tightly pegged pants.

FASHION

With summer on its way, all women's thoughts turn toward fashion. At a fashion show recently held at the Wong's Chop Suey Paradise, this reporter saw models from the Gary Fonseca Agency. Among the models were Hazel Donnelly, Mary Flaherty, Sandra Lertora, Joan Grenier, Barbara

ROLLER-FOLLIES VISIT CITY

World-famous Roller Follies will make a local stand at the Boston Garden next week. Star of the production is graceful Claire Farrell, whose beautiful dancing is world-famous.

Also in the company are Joan Clayton, Joan Hudson, Joan Hebert, Jean Grahame, Elaine Gutoski, Noreen Anderson, Ellin Barry, Mildred Connell, Patricia Cooper, Adelaide DiPrimio, Maureen Cadogan, Lorraine Corsino, Carol Joyce.

A specialty in this year's production will be a twin-number by Jean and June Belleza.

MAYOR CUTS RIBBON AT GALA OPENING

Mayor Wallace Cushing officiated at the opening of Christy's Cafe. Watching the proceedings were Vice-Mayor Robert O'Brien, County Sheriff Pete "Hopalong" Cassidy, and State Tax Collector George Paris. Also present were the School Committee, consisting of Marie Martone, John Ford, John Coleman, Irene Malley, Betty Look, William Glebus, and City Councillors Ed Sullivan, Richard Wilson, Arthur Barbera, Don Grogan, James Gee, William Flaherty, John Kolb, Bill McFarland, Bill McDonald, and Leonard Cherelli.

BRAVES RETURN

All New England turned out today to welcome the Braves back to Boston after their exile to Milwaukee. The capacity crowd at Braves Field cheered the team on to a decisive 8-3 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers. The Braves Manager Carl Ledje told reporters that this year's team was the best in the history of the Braves. Among this year's stars are Peter Romano, Jimmy Scales, David Theall, John Noble, John Wallace, John Whelan, Eddie Merrifield, Jacky Monteith, Edward Kidston, Richard Kolosky, and Louis Gnerre. Manager Ledje is confident that his spirited team will capture the National League pennant and go on to win the World Series. Attendance this year is expected to reach an all-time high according to Robert Dwyer, a spokesman for the Braves. On hand at the park this year to compute the total crowds will be Ruth Healey, Dorothy Harnum, Teresa Kadlubowska, Nancy Joyce, Lucretia Lamantea, Dorothy Lamothe, Marie Martone, Eleanor Masterson, Ellen Lopez, Helen Libro, Joan Maguire, Joyce MacDonald, Frances MacMillen, Beverley Medor, Nancy Miceli, Flora Morash, Lois Murphy, Claire Morrison, and Anastia Mercurio.

REVIVAL BECOMES A HIT

Boston welcomed last night the return of WONDERFUL TOWN, the hit musical of 1953. Now, so many years later the story is still as funny and the songs are as tuneful. The evening was highlighted by the excellent performances of the cast and the singers. This company is the best of the many that have revived the classic musical hit. The stars of the lively show are Jean Herron and John Garrity, the romantic leads, singers Renee Mercier and Edna Hirshberg and pianist Florence Vitale. Some of the members of the excellent girls' chorus are Jean Landry, Mildred Lerman, Barbara McLaughlin, Loretta McLaughlin, Miriam Millen, Helen McCann, LaVerne McKinley, Heather Menzies, Kathleen O'Reilly, Evelina Patterson, Diane Patton, Frances Pepe, Rosemarie Petrillo, Lucia Reyecroft, Thelma Ricardo, Ruth Quimby, Iris Speros, and Natalie Seery. One of the scenes which the audience seemed to enjoy most was a colorful Puerto Rican dance in the second act. Among the talented dancers are Ann Stacey, Carol Spratt, Antonia Speros, Virginia Sousa, Alice Soper, Evelyn Sergi, and Patricia Turtle.

Grace Rotigliano and Dixie Lee Ware, the co-directors of the show told reporters that the show has already been given five awards for its excellence; James Murphy and Kenneth Robinson, ticket agents, said that the house is completely sold-out for the next two months.

The costumes for this sequence, designed by Mary Mansir, Anastacia Martinos, and Barbara MacDonald were singled out by New York designer Barbara Heard for their color and stage effectiveness.

CELEBRITY AUTOGRAPHS BOOKS

Thongs visited the book section of the Le-tendre Department Store to buy copies of Carol MacWilliams' new book about her experiences as the nation's leading harpist. Miss MacWilliams autographed all copies bought yesterday afternoon. Many salesgirls in the store took advantage of this fine opportunity. Among them were Diane Madonna, Pauline Rodrigue, Theresa Rogers, Barbara Rondeau, Pat Shields, Pat Sheehan, Marie St. George, Sandra Snell, Meredith Taylor, Dolores Thomas, Carolyn Travers, Susy Uglietto, Joanne Vahey, and Beatrice Vasconcellos.

Miss MacWilliams' travelling assistants, Arleen Sussman and Dorothy Urling, said that yesterday's was a record crowd.

SECRETARIAL SCHOOL OPENS

Impressive ceremonies marked the opening of the Dorothy Zukas Secretarial School last evening. First classes will be held tomorrow. Miss Zukas has devised a new system of taking shorthand which will probably make her a millionairess. Her teaching staff for this new venture includes: Jane Power, Phyllis Jenkins (noted efficiency expert), Barbara Olson, Phyllis Penny, Claire O'Laughlin, Marion O'Connor, Shirley Peterson. A specialty with the school will be a typing course for women who are already good typists, but who wish to improve their technique. Among those registering for this course are Jean Niles, Josephine Palmissano, Dorothy Palombo, Anna Rancatore, Ruth Ridley, Joan Risola, Shirley Iodice, Terry McAdoo and Jean McCarthy.

Many of Boston's leading secretaries are attending the school to learn Miss Zukas's new speed methods to help them in their present jobs. Among them are Berny McCusker, Maureen McCusker, Ruth McMackin, Marjorie Melnick, Florence Miele, Mary Mitchell, Chris Morrison, Angela Mosca, and Estelle Murphy.

DO YOU HAVE A DISTINGUISHING PERFUME?

If you don't you should try Midnight in Bagdad. This is what beautiful Sandra Lertora, currently starring with Bob Casey and Jimmy Scalese in the movie extravaganza "Salami," has to say. "I used Midnight in Bagdad in all my outdoor scenes during the filming of 'Salami'."

SOCIETY NEWS

Today's society headliner is the tea given yesterday by Mary Jane Walker at her home to discuss plans for the local charity drive with the members of the committees. The entertainment committee consists of Pat Walsh, Carol Williams, and Joan Wentzell. The members of the advertising committee are Marion Williams, Irene Walsh, Ann Vrettas, and Margie Vecchio. The program committee consists of Mary Walsh, Marion Williams, Jeanette Wilshire, Therese Wixon, Jean Woodland, Dorothy and Jean Wong, Lorraine Wolfe, Eva Yona, and Carol Wright. The members of the refreshment committee are Marie Zaglakis, Nancy Yarborough, Dolores Thomas, and Joanna Velonides. These active committees plan a wide variety of entertainments to benefit the local charities. The first will be a lecture by Tatiana Tschisschewski, the prominent lady dentist and world traveler. The lecture is expected to attract hundreds of Cantabridgians.

Today renowned biologist Larry Egan released the results of five years of experimentation to determine what happens when an egg boils. Larry and his crew of Lab Technicians, Martha Ryder, Marilyn Stauff, Helen Tebera, John O'Connor, Niel Niven, John Scales, Angelo Luongo, and Bill McFarland stayed at Karl Ledtje's chicken farm feeding the hens ground glass so that the hens would lay glass shelled eggs. After getting the special eggs, it was discovered that whenever the eggs were boiled the shells would steam up. Larry is not discouraged, however, for he was recently awarded the Nobel Prize for Effort.

REVIEW

1952-1953 marked the sixty-eighth year that the REVIEW has been our school magazine, and this year has been a particularly successful one. The REVIEW has continued its policy of publishing the best essays written by the members of the student body, and has also presented its popular regular features. Nancy Hodgkins and Dick Douglass admirably performed the herculean task of compiling and editing the SPOTLIGHT, which this year continued to publish the activities of the sophomores, juniors and seniors. Marion Bernardini and Phyllis Penney wrote the FRESHMAN NOTES. In addition Marion wrote hilarious satires of various types of TV programs, and Phyllis served as Latin's own disc jockey by writing the record news. Richard Shain and Charlie Martin handled the sports column very well, Richard covering football, basketball and baseball, and Charlie, hockey, track, and cross-country. Richard also compiled ALUMNI NOTES with Joy Santoro. Another highlight of this year's REVIEW was Gail Hebbert's FASHION NOTES, written with personality and real fashion "know-how." Martha Murphy wrote the editorials for all the issues. This year a new feature, REVIEW POLL was added, containing student opinion on such timely matters as TV commercials and Latin's choice movies. Other seniors on the staff were Eva Yona and Jean Lee.

In addition, Manuel Medeiros and his art staff illustrated the REVIEW very admirably, and Sally Kaufman made charming drawings to accompany Gail Hebbert's art column. Jerry Halberstadt deserves the credit for the pictures in these issues. The large quantities of typing were done by Anna Rourke and her typing staff, and Joanna Velonides managed the business transactions.

In summing up this year's REVIEW, the advisors certainly must not be overlooked, because the staff was very grateful to Miss Kelley for her patience and guidance to the literary staff, to Mr. Santoro who brought to the art staff talent and experience, and to Mr. Higgins for his practical advice on business matters. Altogether this year has been a more than successful one for the REVIEW.

G. A. A.

Another full and enjoyable year has passed which we can look back on with pride. Our various activities have left us with many happy memories. I am sure we all wish our organization equal success in the years to come.

Our first activity was the Freshman Party. Our new members wore huge white ribbons and different colored sox. After school, they took the oath of membership and were presented G. A. A. pins by Miss Smith in recognition of their membership. Everyone enjoyed entertainment and refreshments.

On November 21, our most important social function, the G. A. A. formal, took place at the Commander Hotel. Bob Norris and his orchestra provided very danceable music for a delightful evening. Each girl received a small gold favor as a memento. Joanna Velonides and Dick McCabe were chosen king and queen.

During the Christmas season, we followed the time honored custom of having a Christmas party. The officers, assisted by Joan Temple, presented a Christmas play after which our own Santa Claus, Mr. Linskey, came down the chimney with his bag full of surprises.

Between January and June the G. A. A. held bowling, swimming, and roller skating parties.

With the profit made at its various activities the G. A. A. presented the gym with a new phonograph and some records. We hope that these will aid the girls by supplying rhythm for exercising and marching. They will of course be used at future dances and parties as well.

The last function of the year was the second annual dinner which was held in the girls' gym. The girls were presented athletic awards by the mayor.

The officers would like to thank all members for the success of the club this year. Special thanks go to the many teachers who supported the club, particularly Miss Hyde and Miss George for the helpful guidance and untiring service they rendered us in this past year.

DRAMATIC CLUB

Members of the Dramatic Club will remember this year as one of fun and activity for all. The officers were: President, Gael Mahoney; Vice-President, Gail Hebbard; Treasurer, Nancy Doherty; Secretary, David Soeiro. The executive committee consisted of Eva Yona, Sally Kaufman, Joan Doherty, Mary Jane McCauley, and Judith Maloney. The club's presentation of "Curtain Time" again lived up to expectations. The three one-act plays, through the efforts of the casts and crews, were excellent, a fine show in every respect.

The plays were "Sunday Costs Five Pesos," with Edward Shannon, Gael Mahoney, Mary Jane McCauley, Judith Maloney, and Joan Doherty; "Ah! Sweet Mystery," with Lawrence Egan, Philip Corcoran, James Munafo, and Sophie Stankevitch; "When the Shoe Fits," with Ann Garoian, Renee Mercier, Nancy Doherty, and Walter Lucey. The stage crew consisted of Joy Santoro, Peter Miller, Virginia Finstein, and Charles Colter. The featured dancer was Gudrun Vilbig.

Second, this year was the Christmas Pageant, a favorite every year at C. H. L. S. The tableaux, presented with a true reverence so befitting the season, beautifully portrayed Biblical scenes, instilling a moving feeling of Christmas among all.

Next came Thespian Day when drama groups from all local high schools met at Emerson College. Here, the Dramatic Club spent the entire day attending lectures on the drama, participating in a talent show, and watching the dress rehearsal to "Death of a Salesman."

Other events were the Drama Festival, the Dramatic Club Informal Dance, and the Dramatic Club Picnic. No history of the club would be complete without expressions of gratitude towards Miss Hartigan and Mr. Guest, without whose aid and guidance a successful Dramatic Club year could not have been.

GLEE CLUB

The Senior Glee Club, the most selective of the four glee clubs of the high school, once again has had another active and successful year.

As a performing group, it presented itself for the first time at the Armistice Day Program, co-operating with the Dramatic Club.

In November, the Senior Glee Club, along with the General Chorus, Girls' Choir, Freshman Glee Club, and Soloists, presented their "Hit Parade." At this "Hit Parade," all the top tunes of the year were sung.

The yearly tradition of carolling through the corridors of the building on the final day of school before Christmas vacation was once again renewed.

Christmas Eve, as a group of volunteers, the Senior Glee Club carolled at the local hospitals and rest homes.

Following the Christmas vacation, the glee clubs began working in the second annual "Music Revue," presented most successfully and artistically on March 20. It was a musical in four scenes. These scenes consisted of an opening scene, which included a variety of production numbers; the second—"The Canteen Scene," which gave a salute to all branches of the service; the third—"Winter Scene," which portrayed the jollities of youth in the winter; and finally, the "Prayer Scene," which depicted the bedtime of a five-year-old boy.

At the Annual P. T. A. Supper, this group provided the entertainment following the meal.

With the solemnity of Memorial Day, the Senior Glee Club closed the year of performances; and members of the Senior Class bid their sad farewell to the Glee Club from which they had received so much pleasure and satisfaction.

We could not leave this school without expressing our sincere appreciation to Mr. Amoruso for all of his wonderful work. All this music would not have been possible without him.

American Junior Red Cross

The American Junior Red Cross, of C. H. L. S., consists of a body of volunteer workers, supervised by Miss Alice A. Ward and directed by Ann Cook, Mary D'Arcangelo, Elaine Gutowski, and Annette Scotti. Our annual program consists of a group of projects all designed to help others both in the United States and abroad. In the past year of '52-'53 succeeding the enrollment period, the teachers knitted an afghan, the students collected unbreakable ashtrays, unsolved crossword puzzles and toys for tots. The K. B. Club and the Drill Team were great contributing factors to this cause. At present, a group of boys and girls are making an International Correspondence Album under the direction of Elaine Gutowski and Ann Cook. Our work is primarily for the children overseas, the needy, and veterans' hospitals.

K. B.

The K. B. was very successful this year in all its activities. Because of the enthusiasm of the members, we completed several projects.

The first event was an impressive ceremony in November, in which we welcomed forty junior girls, all honor pupils, into the K. B.

For our Christmas project, we co-operated with the Junior Red Cross in collecting toys for children's hospitals, and ash trays for the wounded veterans. The girls responded generously and we filled several boxes.

After Christmas, we spent much time in preparation for the movie, "Pygmalion," which we presented on February 6. The evening was very successful in benefitting our scholarship fund. As a result, two senior girls were given scholarships in June.

At Easter we busied ourselves making decorations for hospital rooms; we decorated the dining room of a nearby hospital.

The girls had a very enjoyable time on the night of our theater party in April, when we saw a delightful musical stage play in Boston.

Our activities ended with the installation of the new officers at our candlelight ceremony. The Senior girls departed sadly thanking the officers, Phyllis Jenkins, President, Judith Maloney, Secretary, and the advisors, Miss Crowley and Miss McCabe, for their invaluable assistance and counsel for our beloved K. B.

CHESS

The Chess team finished in fourth place in the Greater Boston Interscholastic Chess League with a total of 34.5 points and a record of 3-5-0. The championship was won by Boston Latin. The scores of all league matches follows:

CHLS.....4.5	Brookline5.5	CHLS.....3.5	Brookline6.5
CHLS.....6	Boston Tech.4	CHLS.....6	Boston Tech.4
CHLS.....5.5	Roxbury Mem. ...4.5	CHLS.....3.5	Roxbury Mem. ...6.5
CHLS.....2.5	Boston Latin7.5	CHLS.....3	Boston Latin7

On February 18, the Chess team defeated a team of alumni by a score of four to nothing. In April, we played two matches with Milton and one with Perkins Institute. Also in April, several members of this school participated in the State Junior Tournament. Last fall the following officers were elected:

Paul Lorris, '53—President
Richard Sanderson, '53—Secretary

Jerome Halberstadt, '54—Vice Pres.
Patrick Higonet, '54—Treasurer

The annual meeting of the league was held in February at Roxbury Memorial. Francis Birch, '54, was elected secretary of the league. Three new teams were admitted to the league: Roxbury Latin, Belmont and Perkins Institute.

Due largely to a lack of depth, the team did not do very well this year. Only two members, Paul Lorris and Richard Sanderson, are graduating this year. Unless some unforeseen difficulties arise, the outlook for next year is bright.

PROJECTION CLUB

The functions of the Audio-Visual Department, which supplement the regular classroom techniques of teaching in a novel and entertaining manner, are effected by the Projection Club under the capable direction of Mr. Haley. With a strict schedule, the twenty-five club members often show up to three simultaneous showings in a single class period.

The Projection Club operates films for every subject in the C.H.L.S. curriculum—Latin, modern languages, mathematics, history, civics, home economics, secretarial courses, as well as several others. However, this club shows more Science films than any other type.

In addition to showing education films, the Projection Club is called upon to prepare and operate backstage effects, loudspeaking systems, wire and tape recorders, educational radio programs and record players among others.

FRENCH AND ITALIAN CLUBS

Second Row: Vitale, McWilliams, Peter, Santoro, Melnick, Temple, Salvato.

First Row: Turpin, Hodgkins, Birch, Urling, Potter.

This year has been a very successful one for the French Club. The officers: Francis Bird, President; Eleanor Turpin, Vice-President; Dorothy Urling, Secretary; Virginia Potter, Treasurer, and Nancy Hodgkins, Program Director, conducted meetings according to parliamentary procedure once a month. At these meetings there were musical programs and games, short plays, or perhaps a lecture.

However two of the activities which we enjoyed the most took place after school hours. We went to Chez Dreyfus, a French restaurant in Harvard Square one evening, and enjoyed a delicious French dinner. When an outstanding collection of French drawings came to Harvard's Fogg Museum from the Louvre, we spent a particularly pleasant afternoon in the art galleries.

We wish to thank Miss Parsons, who was a fine advisor to us in all our projects.

The officers of the Spanish Club are: Joyce MacDonald, President; Judith DeFreitas, Vice-President; Eleanor D'Agostino, Secretary, and Barbara Darlington, Treasurer. Joanne Bolton is Program Director. Miss Cox and Miss McCabe are the advisors.

The meetings are very informal and held twice a month. Lectures, movies, and outside speakers are the activities of our meetings. Outside activities include outings, dining at a Spanish restaurant and visiting museums.

Plans are being discussed for a play. We will close the school year with a party.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

In all phases of sports, the girls' teams which have been playing for the past four years have lived up to the traditions set by their predecessors.

This year's Senior and Varsity basketball teams have both lost many of their players to the business world, yet the loss has not been too apparent as the teams joined their forces so as to make an admirable showing.

Although the teams may not have won all their games this year, they displayed unusual team work and spirit which is in the end the primary goal of all high school sports.

Captained by Mary McMullen and Ann Rancatore, the Varsity teams played exciting games with the strong opponents from Somerville and Newton, and finally, in our gym, ended the season playing three thrilling games with the respective forces from Malden, Belmont and Arlington.

At this time, the class games have not as yet begun, but the players are looking forward to games, packed with thrills, for the results of these will determine the school championship for the current year. Success to the future champs!

All the girls, who have been actively engaged in sports, wish at this time to formally express their heart-felt appreciation to Miss George and Miss Hyde for their wonderful assistance and understanding that has been so gratefully received throughout the past four years in which they have been associated with them.

FOOTBALL

The Latin football squad, tutored by head coach John "Tweet" Reardon, came up with a brilliant seasonal record this year, winning 6 and losing but 3. It must be mentioned that the Cantabs three losses came at the hands of powerful Class "A" Arlington, 13-7, Class "B" Champs Watertown, 12-2, and undefeated Class "C" Champs Amesbury, 20-7. The highlights of the season, which featured a four-game winning streak in the middle of the schedule, were as follows: Our opening game upset over Class "A" Saugus at Russell Field, 13-6; our shutout over a neighboring Belmont Club, 19-0; our 1, point edge over Malden Catholic, 7-6; our most decisive conquest over Stoneham, 20-0, the second shutout of the campaign; the 13-12 shading of Taunton and last, but not least, our great triumph over arch-rival Rindge Tech, 14-7, in the first game of the 62 game series to be played on Thanksgiving Day.

The team was sparked throughout the season by the inspirational play of Captain Kenny Hadley and by the stellar performances of such backs as Messuri, Scalese, Romano, Noble, Russian, and Kolosky. Outstanding linemen were Casey, DiMeo, D'Arcy, Dottin, Demos, Martone, Bradley, Estrella, Moriarty, Leonardos and Coleman. Thus Latin culminated a very successful year which will long be remembered for its great teamwork and high spirit.

Letters were awarded to the following boys: Gerald Bradley, Charles Bush, Robert Casey, Gregory Courtois, John Coleman, Francis D'Arcy, Frank DiMeo, Gerald Dottin, Lawrence Egan, John Estrella, Kenneth Hadley (1952 Captain), Richard Kolosky, William Griffin, John Hegarty, Gregory Leonardos, Anthony Messuri (Captain for 1953), James Merchant, Edward Moriarty, John McCarron, John Noble, Peter Romano, Robert Russian, James Scalese, John Serino, Frank Tahmoush, John Tierney, William Troy and Thomas Haley (Manager).

HOCKEY

"A man may be down, but he is never out!" This was the slogan of our hockey team as it fought so bravely to defend the honor of C. H. L. S. on ice. Out of ten contests, only one went into the win column, while six were losses and three ended in ties, as the Latinites wound up in last place in the 1952-53 edition of the Greater Boston Interscholastic hockey league. Unfortunately the Cantabs lacked material enough to go along with the fine spirit and fight which the boys showed on the ice. Honorable mentions go to Eddie Kidston, who was chosen to play on the G. B. I. all-star team, Tony Messuri, and John Theall for their sterling play as they led the Cambridge scoring. Cantab lettermen were Kidston, Messuri, Theall, Edward Merrifield, Ronald Briand, captain Robert Casey, Timothy Corkery, John Daley, John Dooley, Donald Keefe, Richard McCabe, Edward Moriarty, Robert O'Brien and manager John Serino.

BASKETBALL

Coach Joe Kozlowski, embarking on his 25th year of coaching at C. H. L. S., started the season with only Captain Bill Griffin and John Noble returning from last year's starting quintet. The team, substituting aggressiveness and hustle for lack of experience, opened its Suburban League campaign with a stunning 53-50 upset over defending champions Arlington at their home court. A 69-51 defeat by the Wealthy Towners of Brookline was more than offset by two successive triumphs over Newton, 57-46, and over Rindge, 55-49. Invading Waltham, the Cantabs never did get the right time as they met up with their second defeat, 53-45. Latin then rebounded with another sensational victory over league leading Arlington, 48-42, and were now serious title contenders. A second setback by Waltham, 65-52, was followed by a great overtime win over Watertown, 54-52, at Watertown.

Playing Watertown again to make up a previous postponement, the tables were turned and Watertown walked off with a 63-53 victory. The last three games were disastrous for the Latin hoopsters and spoiled any Tech Tourney hopes, as they met with three successive defeats at the hands of Newton, 54-45; Brookline, 45-42, and Rindge, 64-63. The latter two contests were exceedingly close and weren't decided until the final seconds of play. Special praise must be given to the team's performance in the Rindge game in which everyone played his heart out for a Latin victory and hustled to tie the score eight times in the final period. In a non-league game, Latin whipped a star-studded alumni squad in a benefit game for a memorial to William Cullinane, a former Latin hoopster who lost his life in Korea.

Running down this year's starting lineup we find Captain Bill Griffin and high scorer John Noble at forwards, Woody Layne at center, and Paul White and Pete Higgins at the guard spots. Both Noble and White hit the charmed century mark in season scoring with 149 and 124 points respectively.

TRACK

Cross Country

Although not a meet went into the win column, there is evidence that the team will show considerable improvement next year. However, there was something for Cambridge fans to cheer about, for Latin's Kenneth D'Arcy went undefeated throughout the season and set the league record of 12:4 minutes for the course, thus becoming the Metropolitan League champion. With the return next year of letterman D'Arcy, Lawrence Jacquith, William Reagen and others, Latin may prove to be a formidable contender for the championship.

Indoor Track

The Cambridge High and Latin School indoor track team participated in five dual meets in the Metropolitan Track League, and in the B. A. A. Interscholastic Track Meet, the Mass. State Meet, the National A. A. U. Schoolboy Championships, and the Bowdoin College Meet during the '53 season.

In the Met League, the Latin team had a 1-4 record, tying for last place in division 2. However, the team was much better than this record implies. Latin stars in the league were Ken D'Arcy, who went undefeated, running the 1000 three times and the mile twice; John McCarron, who in five tries won the 600 four times, finished second the fifth time, and set a new division record of 1:21.6 minutes for the distance, and the relay team which won four out of five races. Frank DiMeo, Richard Cawley, Tom McCarron, John McCarron, and alternate Ken D'Arcy composed the relay team.

The relay team also captured fourth place in the B. A. A. Meet, the Class B title in the State Meet, a victory in the Bowdoin Meet at Brunswick, Maine, and, with miler D'Arcy, participated in the Nationals at Madison Square Garden, New York, where they made a good showing although finishing out of points.

At the time of this writing, the track team is looking forward to the outdoor season which promises to be a successful one.

TENNIS AND GOLF TEAMS

GOLF

The Golf team, under the able supervision of Coach Ronan, will be out to emulate last year's success. Coach Ronan has expressed great confidence in his team which will be as well balanced as any that has walked the links. The senior class boasts two lettermen in Bob Shrago and Ed McMahon as do the sophomores with Jim Curcio and Paul Mahoney. Mike Fortman and Dave Herlihy of the junior class will be out to crack the letter column as well as the freshman delegates Frannie McLaughlin, Francis Lynch, and Robert Maciel. The balance and aggressiveness of this team will certainly make the Cantabs contenders, if not champions.

TENNIS

With the coming of spring, members of the tennis team take up their rackets once again to fight for old C. H. L. S. on the tennis courts.

Coach Cohen says that the season outlook is excellent as six lettermen return from last year. With veterans David Dockhom, Frank Birch, Paul Lorris, Richard Sanderson, Jerome Halberstadt, and Patrick Higuonet, plus some new talented additions, the Cantab team should prove to be a serious threat for the Suburban Tennis League championship title of 1953, their first year in the league.

Epilogue

We have yet to strive.—There will always be a foe worthy of our mettle.—We go forth armed with the knowledge we accumulated here at Cambridge High and Latin School, shielded not by experience, but by the bright memory of the pleasant days of our youth. They are our sword and halberd.

When the fire of life begins to sink, this book will be revered not for the familiar face of friends alone—but for the precious memories of the happiest expression of our youth.
